ULSTER LOST $36,000 BECAUSE OF ASSESSMENTS MADE TOO LOW

Still it Drew $473,976.18 From the State More Than it Paid In—More Than 6,000 Dogs are Taxed, Yielding $12,738 in Revenue—How State Taxes are Distributed Told by Commissioner Graves.

The common idea that increased assessments result in increased taxes is a fallacy, stated Mark Graves, state tax commissioner, on the occasion of the biennial meeting of the State Tax Commission with the city and town supervisors and the city, town and village assessors of Ulster county, which was held at the court house in Kingston today. As a matter of fact, it was declared, had the real property in this county been assessed at its full value the county would have received from the state in 1922 approximatel $36,000 more than it actually did as its share of the personal income tax money.

The meeting was conducted by Mr. Graves, assisted by Deputy State Tax Commissioner Seth T. Cole and Special Agents John W. Leyden and Charles H. Snyder.

The requirement of the law that property subject to taxation be assessed at its full value was one of the principal subjects for discussion. It was stated that although in the past this provision, as a general rule, was more honored in its breach than in its observance, conditions throughout the state in recent years have shown a steady improvement. Communities which do obey the law receive a larger return of personal income tax moneys and are further benefitted in that full value carries equalization with it and produces a more equitable base for the distribution of the tax burden.

The following facts which are of general interest, were disclosed:

The aggregate assessed valuation of real property in Ulster county for the year 1922 was $44,543,016 as compared with $42,395,439 in 1921, an increase of $2,147,577.

The aggregate assessed valuation of tangible personal property in the county for the year 1922 was $193,125, as compared with $196,975 in 1921, a decrease of $3,850.

The assessed valuation of real property exempt from taxation in 1922 was $4,938,651 and in 1921 was $4,776,741.

The rate of assessment of real property in Ulster county as fixed by the State Board of Equalization for the year 1922 and 57%. As the result of under-assessment the sum of $22,887,406 was added to the assessed valuation for 1921 and the direct state tax for 1922 was apportioned on an equalized valuation of $65,479,820.

Direct state tax rate as fixed by the legislature for 1922 was $1.2915 per thousand dollars which on the equalized valuation amounted to $84,567.19 and produced an actual rate for the county of $1.9854 per thousand.

The full value of special franchises in the county as fixed by the State Tax Commission for 1922 was $3,218,998 which amount was reduced to $1,880,410 on equalizaion with other real property assessed locally. Full value assessment would have saved the county the difference of $1,338,588 in taxable valuation.

As stated above Ulster county in 1922 was called upon to contribute to the state by direct taxation the sum of $84,567.19. It received from the state a total of $558,543.37 or $473,976.18 more than it paid in direct taxes, made up as follows:

From the personal income tax	$ 34,511.22
From the tax on business corporations	37,813.17
From the motor vehicle tax	4,150.00
From the mortgage tax	14,878.26
For schools	237,857.69
State aid for county roads	55,440.09
State aid for town highways	45,171.42
For maintenance and repairs of state and county highways	128,721.61
Total	$558,543.37

The personal income tax moneys are distributed on the basis of the assessed valuation of real property and it was pointed out that had real property throughout this county been assessed at its full value the county would have received in 1922 approximately $70,659.06 from this source or $36,147.84 more than it actually received.

F. E. Dawley of Fayetteville, representing the Department of Farms and Markets, told the Assessors and Supervisors of their duties in connection with the appraisal of damages done by dogs, and gave some figures regarding the workings of the law in relation to the licensing of dogs.

The law providing for a state wide tagging system outside of greater New York, was enacted in 1917, and since that time, three million dollars has been paid in dog licenses and over $600,000 has been paid out in remuneration for damages done to domestic animals. 270,000 dogs have been licensed so far this year, and for the first time in New York state, a very large percentage of all dogs are paying tax.

In Ulster county over 6,000 dogs have been licensed since July 1, 1922, and the assessors can materially aid in increasing this number if they will be sure to furnish the town clerks with an accurate list of all dogs owned in each town. During the year $692.00 has been paid for losses to domestic animals, and about $12,738.00 collected in fees. After deducting the losses the balance is distributed by the officers between the town in proportion to the amounts received.

Since July 1, 1917, $7,115.91 has been paid out in the county for damage done to domestic animals and as one of the most serious obstacles to sheep raising has been the dog menace, this should materially aid in interesting farmers in the sheep industry.

MEMORIAL DAY WAS CELEBRATED

Morning Hours Devoted to Decorating Graves of Hero Dead and Patriotic Exercises at City Hall Park—Afternoon Devoted to Pleasure.

Under sunny skies impressive Memorial Day exercises were held in Kingston Wednesday morning its program closing with a patriotic meeting in City Hall Park where the address of the day was delivered by the Rev. Arthur S. Cole, pastor of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. The weather was ideal, neither too warm nor too chilly, and thousands visited the city's cemeteries and decorated the graves during the morning hours.

This year the Pratt Post Memorial Day Association had arranged an exceptionally interesting and patriotic Memorial Day program with brief exercises at Wiltwyck, Montrepose and St. Mary's cemeteries. At 8:30 o'clock in the morning the puplis gathered at the various schools to participate in the annual Memorial Day parade to the cemeteries headed by a band and the veterans of the wars of this country. At the close of the brief but impressive ceremonies at the three cemeteries the graves of the hero dead were decorated with flowers by the school children.

The hours of the afternoon were given over to pleasure in Kingston. All of the theatres had banner holiday crowds at all performances, the afternoon ball game drew many, and during the afternoon and evening Kingston Point Park was thronged with visitors.

Many families entertained friends over the holiday and the Hudson River Day line brought many to Kingston Point Park. Many also made the trip to Kingston by auto, although the traffic was not as heavy as in other years.

Wednesday morning at 6:30 o'clock a memorial Mass was celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church for the deceased veterans. The Polish parish band was present at the service and played the Star Spangled Banner before and after the service.

At 9 o'clock the congregation with the school children marched to Mt. Calvary Cemetery where prayers were offered. The Rev. Ignatius Bialdyga pastor of the church, delivered a very impressive address appropriate to Memorial Day. In his talk he urged that the spirit of unity and loyalty to our country be strictly adhered to. A very large crowd was in attendance at the cemetery, decorating the graves with flowers and flags.

At St. Mary's Cemetery Memorial Day morning the Rev. Joseph B. Scully celebrated Mass, which was attended by a tremendous gathering. From St. Mary's School the school children marched to the cemetery headed by the Boy Scouts of St. Mary's with members of the American Legion. The musical program rendered at the Mass was by the chancel choir of St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Father Scully delivered the address. After the services the graves, which were very prettily decorated, were visited.

BOYS WILL SEE PICTURE OF OLD WHALING DAYS

The boys of the "big brother" class who are entertained each Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. by the Kingston Rotary Club, will this evening attend the Kingston Opera House and witness the picture, "Down to the Sea in Ships," which is being shown all this week. The boys will be the guests of Manager Gildersleeve. Each Thursday evening these boys are entertained by the Boys' Work committee of the Rotary Club at the Y. M. C. A. where they are allowed to use the "Y" showers and the other privileges of the "Y." The film which is being shown all this week at the opera house is an interesting story of the old days of whaling around which has been cleverly woven a story of romance.

SICK CHILDREN SAVED FROM FIRE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 31.—Sixty-five sick and crippled little children were carried out to safety early today when fire swept through a large frame building, a part of the Pittsburgh Hospital for children. A terrific explosion of a water tank in the basement was quickly followed by the fire in the old frame building.

The children were housed in two concrete wings. Fearful of a disastrous fire, Chief Michael Shannahan, pulled one alarm after another. Calls to a half dozen other hospitals for aid quickly brought ambulances.

Nurses and firemen tenderly carried out the sick and helpless tots and they were hurried away to hospitals for temporary shelter and care. No one was injured.

The loss was estimated at $25,000.

AERIAL DEFENSE DEVELOPED HERE

New Anti-Aircraft Guns Tremendously More Efficient Than Those Used In World War.

(Copyright 1923 by International News Service).

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 31.—America is safe from aerial invasion.

While the nation has watched in amazement the spectacular and phenomenal post-war development of aviation other branches of the army and navy have not remained idle. Working quietly but efficiently the coast artillery, the ordnance department, the chemical warfare service, and corresponding branches of the navy have evolved a system of defense against that very development which will render American sea coast cities impregnable to attack by air.

Anti-aircraft development, International News Service learned today, has kept pace, step by step, with the rise of aviation since the war and there is no great improvement in the air plane as an offensive weapon that has not been matched and offset of defensive strategy. Aided by remarkable new inventions and improvements, a series of defense plans have been worked out for the protection of the entire country.

Outstanding among the latest adoptions to anti-aircraft defense, and hitherto undisclosed, are:

An anti-air craft gun firing a shell 4.7 inches in diameter, with a velocity more than two times greater than the Frence 75 mm used during the war.

A 37 mm (1½ inch) machine gun now in the course of completion.

A .50 calibre machine gun, the outgrowth of the .30 calibre gun used during the war.

A tracer bullet visible to the naked eye to a height of 7,000 feet.

A sounder capable of warning against oncoming airplanes, giving their direction and location with almost true accuracy.

A plan of safeguarding highly important points, such as canal locks, arsenals, etc., against bombing by the use of huge nets carried into position by balloons, which is now in the course of completion.

A gas defensive to be used should any other nation be "so barbaric" as to resort to that forbidden weapon of war.

All of the foregoing developments either have been fully and successfully tested or have been developed to a point where success appears to be assured. Tests are now in progress at the Aberdeen, Md., and Fortress Monroe, Va.

Theory of defense against aircraft during the war was to keep invading planes at a height of 10,000 feet. The present theory is not only to keep them at that height but also to demolish them. This theory has been based on greater gun velocity and bursting radius and all of the new guns have proven equal to the new standard.

During the war figures show that the French used approximately 5,000 shells to bring down one airplane while the American forces used 599.

A recent American experiment in which a kite in size to a plane was towed 700 yards behind a plane at a height of 7,000 feet resulted in its being completely riddled with bullets from a .50 calibre machine gun.

During the war, German air raids on Paris and London were feared greatly and no inkling of their presence was usually heard until immediately before actual bombing commenced. With the new type of sounder, no plane has been able to "sneak in" on Fortress Monroe, though many have tried, while a sounder located at the army war college here picked up and located instantly a gun fired on the monument grounds, a distance of about three miles.

The great advantage in the three new guns—the 4.7, and the .50 calibre and 37 MM machine guns—lie in their greatly increased velocity greater bursting radius and the use of "tracer" projectiles. Whereas, the war time 75 travelled 1,700 feet a second, the new 4.7 goes at a rate of 1,000 feet. This enables almost direct firing, which the tracer bullets would facilitate to a height of 7,000 feet, while with a bursting radius five times greater than that attained during the war an almost impassable barrage could be laid down. All of the guns are highly mobile, while the idea of a machine gun firing shells 1½ in diameter, as in the case of the 37 MM army officials believe, will do much to break the morale of an attacking force.

"DRYS", THERE EARLY, GET 75 PER CENT OF ASSEMBLY SEATS AT HEARING

Noted Lawyers, Labor Leaders and Women Present Arguments For and Against Mullan-Gage Law Repeal—Palmer Canfield Among Them.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 31.—Declaring that his mind was "still open" Governor Alfred E. Smith was scheduled to give a hearing in the assembly chamber this afternoon on the Cuvillier bill to repeal the Mullan-Gage state prohibition enforcement law.

Long before 1 o'clock when the hearing was scheduled to start, the "wets" and "drys" were gathering at the capitol. It is estimated between 1,500 and 2,000 persons came to Albany last night and this morning to appear before the governor.

Both sides were confident as the hearing opened. The "wets" said the governor would have to sign the repealer and "keep the faith with the people who elected him." The "drys" asserted it would be "political suicide" for the governor to approve the bill.

"I guess the interest of the country is directed toward Albany these days" was all the governor would say.

Despite the fact that today's hearing is probably the most important one ever held in the capitol, friends of the governor said he was "prepared to do his duty as he sees it." The governor worked all day Decoration Day at the executive mansion cleaning up pending 30-day bills so he can give all his undivided attention to the repealer during the next two days.

The governor is expected to announce his decision some time Saturday. The 30-day period expires at Midnight Sunday night and the governor must act on the Cuvillier bill before that time.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel to the anti-saloon league, and William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the league, will lead the speakers for the "drys." Colonel William Hayward, United States district attorney for southern New York, Orville S. Poland, New York state counsel for the anti-saloon league, the Rev. O. R. Miller, superintendent of the New York civic league and many clergymen and reformers were prepared to argue for the "drys."

Women were pitted against women at the hearing. Mrs. Ella A. Boole, state president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, is to speak for the "dry" women. Alice Carpenter of New York, who led a large delegation of the Molly Pitcher women, was prepared to tell the governor that many women are opposed to the Mullan-Gage law.

The wets will be led by Senator John J. Dunnigan and Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, New York Democrat, who sponsored the repeal bill in the legislature. Other speakers on their side include John N. Carlisle of Watertown, Col. Ransom H. Gillette of Albany, counsel to the Association Opposed to Prohibition, Augustus Thomas, playwright, William J. Roche of Troy, Judge Samuel B. Coffin, Frank J. Creigg, corporation counsel of Syracuse, George F. Johnson of Binghampton and John Reamer of Ithaca.

Samuel Gompers, veteran president of the American Federation of Labor, and James P. Holland, president of the New York State Federation of Labor, were scheduled to tell the governor that labor is unalterably opposed to the Mullan-Gage law.

William Jennings Bryan, who had been expected to make the principal speech for the "drys" was not in the city a few hours before the hearing. It was not known for certain whether he would attend.

The "drys" are expected to stress the point that it would be virtually "secession" for the state to withdraw its enforcement of the federal prohibition law. The "wets" said they would emphasize that fact that the state voluntarily enacted the Mullan-Gage law and that it has a perfect right to repeal it.

Mrs. Ida B. Sammis-Woodruff, representing the Brooklyn Women's Constitutional committee arrived early at the capitol with a delegation of women from New York and Brooklyn, representing clubs with a total membership of 50,000. She presented the governor with a petition signed by 3,765 women asking that the Mullan-Gage law be kept on the statute books.

Mrs. Sammis-Woodruff said she intended to remind the governor that he answered the questionnaire sent out by the league of women voters before election, he said he favored state cooperation for the enforcement of prohibition.

"This was the reason why tens of thousands of Republican as well as Democratic women rallied to the support of Governor Smith in the last campaign," she declared.

William H. Anderson was late in reaching the capitol. He said he was certain the "drys" would be able to convince the governor he ought to veto the repealer "if the governor already hasn't made up his mind."

When the "wets" began to arrive at the capitol more than an hour before the hearing started they found at least 75 per cent of the seats in the assembly chamber occupied by "drys." It was necessary for scores of the "wets" to take seats in the galleries.

Declaring any hope that the repeal of the Mullan-Gage law will nullify the federal prohibition act, and make it a dead letter in this state is "hollow and unreliable," Palmer Canfield, state prohibition director, filed a memorandum with the governor urging veto of the Cuvillier bill.

STATE AUTO ASSOCIATION TO MEET AT OGDENSBURG.

Will Agitate Headlight and License Situation.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., May 31.—The exceedingly dangerous headlight situation will be one of the principal topics at the mid-summer meeting of the New York State Automobile Association at Ogdensburg and Ottawa, Canada, June 25 and 26.

"It seems to be the general opinion of motorists who drive after nightfall in this state," said Herbert W. Baker, secretary of the association, "that the present headlight situation is much worse and more dangerous that it has ever been, notwithstanding the fact that the tax commission revised the list of approved devices last September and removed a large number of devices which had previously been approved. At the same time, the tax commission removed from the list the one simple, sure and safe light—a properly frosted bulb, which needs no adjustment whatever, and no patent lens."

"Most of the complaint," said Mr. Bakes, "seems to arise from fluted lenses."

Another topic to be discussed at the meeting will be the licensing of all operators, and undoubtedly a special effort will be requested of all of the more than 100 clubs of the association, to pass strong resolutions and secure the support of the assemblyman candidates for such a measure before the November election.

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With Othine—Double Strength

This preparation for the treatment of freckles is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of Othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

POLICE HAD BUSY HOLIDAY

Tuesday and Wednesday Presented a Wide Variety of Cases in Police Court. From Drunks to Traffic Violators and Speeders.

With fourteen arrests for various offenses over the holiday the police department established a record that has not been exceeded in several years. City Judge Robert G. Groves presided over police court Decoration Day, and disposed of the following cases:

Decker Gardiner of Ulster Park, arrested by Officer Entrott Tuesday night on a charge of driving his auto while intoxicated on North Front street, waived examination and was held to await the action of the next grand jury.

Moncure Biddle, a tourist arrested for speeding, paid a fine of $10.

Bernard Snyder of John street tore down the quarantine sign at No. 95 John street and was arrested by Officer Hicks. He contributed $5 to the city treasury.

Michael Ubas, a Decoration Day drunk, arrested by Officer Martin, contributed $5.

John C. Brady of Far Rockaway, a speeder, was fined $10.

Thomas R. Bergman of New York, arrested for speeding, forfeited $20 cash bail by failure to appear in court.

Today in police court Judge Harry E. Schirick presiding, William P. Cannon of Sawkill, arrested by Officer Roedell Tuesday when he attempted to whip the officer, contributed $3 on pleading guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct.

Leroy Reynolds, arrested by Officer Entrott, for failure to pass to the right of a traffic standard, was fined $5.

The following speeders were arrested and gave bail for their appearance later: Fred Weidemann, North Bergen; Jacob Noldar, Weehawken; E. C. Soper, New York city.

William Personus was picked up on John street on Wednesday by Officer Entrott. William said he was intoxicated, but not badly. He was fined $5 and the payment suspended provided he returned home at once.

Julius Klein of lower Broadway was arrested by Officer Shoemaker on a charge of failure to comply with his signal while on bridge duty at Abeel street. He gave bail for his appearance later.

After a lengthy hearing Fred Dahlem of this city was held to await the action of the next grand jury on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated. Dahlem's arrest was an outcome of an auto collision between his car and that of Daniel Decker of Kerhonkson, who swore out the warrant for Dahlem's arrest. The cars collided in front of the old Senate House several nights ago. Dahlem's bail was fixed at $300, which he furnished. Dahlem was represented by Attorney Frank W. Brooks, while District Attorney Frederick C. Traver and Walter Miller conducted the hearing.

AUTO TRAFFIC WAS LIGHT HERE

There Was Not the Usual Amount of Automobilists Passing Through Kingston for Over the Holiday, and but Few Minor Accidents Reported.

Automobile traffic through Kingston over the holiday was not as heavy Wednesday as in other seasons, and but few auto accidents, and those of a minor character were reported. Various reasons were ascribed for the falling off in out of town auto traffic, but the principal one seemed that of the holiday falling in the middle of the week.

In Kingston the police department placed men on traffic duty wherever it was possible to do so, and that one of the main reasons for the elimination of any serious accident here.

The state troopers followed the usual custom of other holidays in doing traffic duty at the junction of the Ashokan reservoir roads, at Stony Hollow and at the gate house.

BROOKLYN EAGLE'S EXPERT ANALYZES PHILIP ELTING

The Sunday Brooklyn Eagle devotes the front page of section E to a character study of the new collector of the port of New York, Philip Elting of this city, which was written by Frederick Boyd Stevenson. A pen and ink sketch of Mr. Elting also appears on this page.

Stevenson states in the beginning that he does not consider Mr. Elting the kind of man who would become greatly excited in an emergency and then goes on to make a short comparison with him and John Purroy Mitchel, who was at one time collector of the port and later mayor of New York city. He explains that these two men are directly opposite in their manner of doing things. Mitchel was very impetuous and nervous which Mr. Elting is not.

He then states that some one told him that in mannerisms and in numerous respects Mr. Elting resembles Abraham Lincoln—that he is that sort of man not only in his physical makeup, but in his mental conclusions and adjustments. Mr. Stevenson says that he does not have the mannerisms which Lincoln had. The writer comments on his directness of speech and on the fact that he never loses a word.

Mr. Stevenson then calls the attention of the reader to the fact that the new collector is an old-fashioned politician of the old Republican school and that in his estimation first of all and last of all comes the party. When asked for a prophecy concerning the Republican party of tomorrow he said that he would have to guess at that and the writer comments on the fact that he is not the type of man who guesses at things. Mr. Elting also told his interviewer that he was against the direct primary. He frowns on Theodore Roosevelt's action in bolting his party. He has no use for any man who forsakes his party.

FILM VERSION OF "THE HOTTENTOT" AT KEENEY'S

None of the humor and action of the original stage play of "The Hottentot" in which William Collier kept Broadway laughing for over a year, has been lost in the film version of the story, at Keeney's Theatre tonight, Friday and Saturday.

The cleverest wit in the stage play has been reproduced on the screen in the titles. Additional funny situations have been worked in, while the steeplechase, which could only be talked about in the play, is a thrilling piece of realism in the picture. It is the exciting climax of the fun and thrills that arise from the embarrassing situations in which a yachtsman who is afraid of horses and who is mistaken for a rider of the same name gets himself.

Monday at the New Auditorium theatre the first showing of "Jan of the Big Snow," a northwest story, will be given in Kingston. This film is said to be an exceptionally beautiful one, the story is by James Oliver Curwood and is a tale of the big northwest. The serial, "The Oregon Trail" will also be shown. The days of Daniel Boone and the Indians are brought vividly to mind in "The Oregon Trail."

Today there will be an entire change of program at the Orpheum. Six vaudeville acts and a pre-released picture, Dorothy Dalton, in "Fog Bound." This picture is being shown here before starting its run in New York City.

Refrigeration Important.

Refrigeration is a modern science that finds many uses. In mining it overcomes two great difficulties: the influx of water in porous formations and the heat of deep shafts. By freezing the surrounding earth, miners can carry their shafts through water-bearing strata, and by supplying themselves with cool air they can penetrate the earth to great depths.—Youth's Companion.

TWO CLERGYMEN.

After reading some of the poisonous vilification which exudes from Superintendent William H. Anderson of the Anti-Saloon League daily, especially in reference to legislators, judges and civilians who differ from him in opinion, it is refreshing to read the statement of Assemblyman Lincoln R. Long of Delaware county in announcing his retirement from the assembly, where he has served his county for five years, and his return to the active ministry.

The statements of Anderson and Long are worthy of comparison, particularly because both of them are clergymen in the Methodist Episcopal denomination. Long voted as Anderson would have voted if he could, but each treats the legislators in a different way. Anderson denounces them bitterly, can see no good in men unless they think and act as he wishes, and can see nothing but response to "interests" when they vote contrary to his commands.

Assemblyman Long, on the contrary, who has associated for five years with the men whom Anderson denounces, finds that his associates "play fair and hold no grudges," and if he visits Albany again and can find a member of the assembly of the last five years, "whether Republican or Democrat, Jew or Gentile, I shall have some one to show me the sights and we shall simply be American citizens together."

Anderson treats men as if they were schoolboys and he was their master. Long knows they are men of "honesty and intelligence, of ability and good heart." As between the Anderson denunciations and the Long tribute, which rings the most true? Putting prejudice aside and considering men as we meet and learn to know them, who strikes closer to the truth—Anderson or Long? Men disagree on many things; at present the prohibition question is the most important; but while Anderson admittedly has bulldozed legislatures of the past and now finds that "more and more state legislators heed the voice of constituent rather than leader," as Long points out, doesn't the Anderson daily denunciation ring false and the Long statement ring true?

Putting aside the respect which attaches to Long in this vicinity where he is known personally, and considering the men only from their talk, statements and behavior, as between Anderson and Long, which appeals most to the confidence of the average man or woman? In which man would they place their trust?

Yet both men are clergymen, both believe in prohibition, both are members of the same church denomination. But one knows human nature and the other does not. Is it hard for anyone to say which is which?

THE FOREIGN SHIP PROBLEM.

In regard to the Supreme Court's recent decision, the American manager of the Cunard Line is quoted as saying: "We shall do nothing undignified in the matter, although we feel that the contemplated ruling is an infringement upon the liberties of other peoples." After June 10, when the Treasury regulations are expected to go into effect, the Cunard steamers bound for America, it is stated, will transport liquor enough to supply the estimated demands of their passengers up to the three-mile limit, and then any left over will be "dumped into the deep." This would seem to imply that the more bibulous sailing from Europe are likely to be denied complete satisfaction, for obviously no risks of throwing much expensive liquor overboard will be taken by the management. Americans shipping for the return trip to Europe have little prospect of getting anything at all, for the eastward voyage will have to be bone-dry—unless time is lost by taking on stores from some convenient rum-runner outside the three-mile limit.

How the French, Italian and Belgian lines are going to manage is not reported, but plainly their situation is very difficult owing to the laws of their countries providing that regular wine rations shall be served to sailors throughout all voyages. Will the countries named and others repeal such laws between now and June 10, and, if not, what will be the outcome? Extreme foreign irritation and reprisals in some form may be expected now that American prohibition has been forced into foreign ships in spite of the old theory that the inside of a foreign ship is foreign territory even while within the three-mile limit or anchored in an alien port.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. What are the tiny black insects you see sometimes in the snow, called snow-fleas? They seem pretty thick around the sugar camps.
2. Is there any medicinal value in the elder berry or root of the bush people make wine of?
3. Are there any white canaries?

Answers In Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Please tell me why the catalpa trees drop water all the time.

We cannot explain this, and have been able to get little comment from botanists who say they have not observed such a happening. We find by accident, in consulting A. I. Root's The ABC and XYZ of Bee Keeping a statement, under honey dew, that "certain plants, particularly catalpa speciosa, under certain conditions, exude, it is said, a sort of saccharine substance from the leaves, but strictly speaking, this is not honey dew." It may be our correspondent has observed a catalpa thus functioning.

2. Do large bullheads eat their young?

Bullheads are catfishes, a species that characteristically protects its young, the male leading the fry about in schools and defending them until they are able to shift for themselves. However, all fishes are given to cannibalism, and if the pond did not supply sufficient food for some reason, the bigger fish might prey even upon their own kind.

3. Does the U. S. Government distribute any wild bird eggs for hatching?

Not that we know of, and it would be very unscientific to remove eggs from their natural wild bird parents. It is true that some fish and game commissions do supply to responsible persons eggs of pheasants or quail, for artificial brooding or rearing by bantam hen, as these game birds can be raised under semi-domestic conditions.

4. How do they get fibres out of plants to make them into cord or thread?

By soaking or pounding, or both. Primitive men discovered that the pulpy part of leaves or stems could be softened by water and more easily cleaned out from the fibrous element, which could then be dried and roughly combed and twisted into cords strong enough to do some work. The Indians were very skillful in utilizing leaves or stems or roots, according to the fibre-yield of the plant. Even yuccas and milkweeds have been made to give up threads.

5. Can you do anything to attract any special kind of bird to your own neighborhood?

In so far as you can offer attractions resembling a given species's natural haunts, you can hope to get the bird as neighbor. A region well planted with elms is likely to attract orioles, and strewing bits of string, etc., at nesting time is likely to popularize the location where such material abounds. Spruce, pine and cedar offer food nesting sites and also hiding places from hawks—a valuable recommendation to birds. Thickets of shrubbery and berry-bearing bushes are liked for food supply. Nesting boxes also help.

6. Will tame rabbits thrive on ensilage?

We cannot say. Clean crisp food is advisable, on general principles, but we cannot give instructions how to rear domestic stock. Lee S. Crandall's Pets and How to Care for Them is a good book for the amateur to consult.

BALL PARK IN POOR CONDITION

There is a great deal of comment among ball fans about the poor exhibitions of defensive baseball which are being put up by supposedly first class semi-pro teams.

Most of the fans assign as a reason the poor condition of the Fair Grounds ball park at the present time. There is no way of getting any water to wet the grounds down as the water connection is broken, which means when there is a dry spell that the grounds become as hard as cement which is the condition at the present time. This not only means that a ball hit by a batter is likely to take weird bounds but also that the players are likely to be injured seriously. Furthermore both the infield and outfield are full of small stones which are also detrimental to a fielder's average and his limbs. Right field is in very bad shape, which is one reason that Freddie Dahn is out of the game with a Charley horse at the present time. Center field also has numerous holes in it makes it rather hard for a center fielder as he not only has to watch the sky but also the ground.

WEDNESDAY IN THE BIG LEAGUES

Lock the door and throw the key away. The Phillies won another double header from the Braves 5 to 3 and 6 to 1.

The Hon. Babe Ruth treated himself to home runs in each of the victories scored by the Yankees over the Senators. Score 6 to 4 and 9 to 4. The young man's total for the season is now 11.

A ninth inning rally at the expense of Vangilder saved the Tigers a double defeat at the hands of the Browns, who won the morning affair 10 to 2. The rally gave the Tigers the afternoon decision 4 to 3.

After the Dodgers had continued their winning streak by taking the Giants in the first 5 to 2, the Giants came back in the afternoon, chased Dickerman off the premises and won 9 to 6. Forty-five thousand, the largest crowd that ever saw a game at the Polo Grounds, witnessed the afternoon contest.

The pennant bee, buzzing merrily in Philadelphia, broke a wing when the Athletics sloughed off a pair to the Red Sox, 6 to 5 and to 6 to 2.

The Pirates knocked off a pair from the Cubs, 5 to 4 and 10 to 2, and advanced to within 4½ games of the league leading Giants.

The White Sox won the afternoon game 7 to 2, after the Indians had come from behind with a six run rally in the seventh to capture the morning contest 7 to 6.

Rube Benton pitched the Reds to a 4 to 2 decision over the Cardinals in the morning and Rixey came in the afternoon to shut the Cardinals out.

COLONIALS, 16; PEEKSKILL A. C., 6

It started off like a ball game.

Towards the last you needed an adding machine to keep track of the Colonials' hits and runs.

It was a good game to watch, however.

The chief reason that the Colonials were able to annex so many runs after the first few innings was that the Brooklyn club was hard hit as far as pitchers were concerned. McAuliffe, who started the game for the visitors and who looked good, developed a stitch in his side while he was taking his turn at the bat in the second inning and as a result had to be taken out of the game. Sloan, who relieved him, went all right for a few innings but in the fifth the Colonials began to knock him all around the lot and as a result he was relieved in the seventh by McCormick who didn't get along very much better.

Culloton started the game for the local team but due to the fact that he had a sore arm he was relieved by Forsythe in the fourth. Let it be said that Forsythe was back in his old form Wednesday and pitched one of the nicest games, while he was in the box, that he has so far this season.

In the field the Peekskill A. C. lived up to the excellent name they made for themselves while here last year but with the Rube in the box for the locals, and with their pitchers being knocked all over the lot they didn't have much of a show to pull the game out of the fire. At the end of the fourth inning they led the local team by 5-3 but at the end of the fifth the Colonials led by a 6-5 score and from that time on there was nothing to it but just to see how many runs the Colonials could annex.

Freddie Dahn was out of the game yesterday resting up his injured leg and in the morning game Ross played right field while Schwab went over to left. Ross got two hits out of three times at bat and in the seventh inning knocked a home run over the right field fence.

TWO CLERGYMEN.

After reading some of the poisonous vilification which exudes from Superintendent William H. Anderson of the Anti-Saloon League daily, especially in reference to legislators, judges and civilians who differ from him in opinion, it is refreshing to read the statement of Assemblyman Lincoln R. Long of Delaware county in announcing his retirement from the assembly, where he has served his county for five years, and his return to the active ministry.

The statements of Anderson and Long are worthy of comparison, particularly because both of them are clergymen in the Methodist Episcopal denomination. Long voted as Anderson would have voted if he could, but each treats the legislators in a different way. Anderson denounces them bitterly, can see no good in men unless they think and act as he wishes, and can see nothing but response to "interests" when they vote contrary to his commands.

Assemblyman Long, on the contrary, who has associated for five years with the men whom Anderson denounces, finds that his associates "play fair and hold no grudges," and if he visits Albany again and can find a member of the assembly of the last five years, "whether Republican or Democrat, Jew or Gentile, I shall have some one to show me the sights and we shall simply be American citizens together."

Anderson treats men as if they were schoolboys and he was their master. Long knows they are men of "honesty and intelligence, of ability and good heart." As between the Anderson denunciations and the Long tribute, which rings the most true? Putting prejudice aside and considering men as we meet and learn to know them, who strikes closer to the truth—Anderson or Long? Men disagree on many things: at present the prohibition question is the most important; but while Anderson admittedly has bulldozed legislatures of the past and now finds that "more and more state legislators heed the voice of constituent rather than leader," as Long points out, doesn't the Anderson daily denunciation ring false and the Long statement ring true?

Putting aside the respect which attaches to Long in this vicinity where he is known personally, and considering the men only from their talk, statements and behavior, as between Anderson and Long, which appeals most to the confidence of the average man or woman? In which man would they place their trust?

Yet both men are clergymen, both believe in prohibition, both are members of the same church denomination. But one knows human nature and the other does not. Is it hard for anyone to say which is which?

THE FOREIGN SHIP PROBLEM.

In regard to the Supreme Court's recent decision, the American manager of the Cunard Line is quoted as saying: "We shall do nothing undignified in the matter, although we feel that the contemplated ruling is an infringement upon the liberties of other peoples." After June 10, when the Treasury regulations are expected to go into effect, the Cunard steamers bound for America, it is stated, will transport liquor enough to supply the estimated demands of their passengers up to the three-mile limit, and then any left over will be "dumped into the deep." This would seem to imply that the more bibulous sailing from Europe are likely to be denied complete satisfaction, for obviously no risks of throwing much expensive liquor overboard will be taken by the management. Americans shipping for the return trip to Europe have little prospect of getting anything at all, for the eastward voyage will have to be bone-dry—unless time is lost by taking on stores from some convenient rum-runner outside the three-mile limit.

How the French, Italian and Belgian lines are going to manage is not reported, but plainly their situation is very difficult owing to the laws of their countries providing that regular wine rations shall be served to sailors throughout all voyages. Will the countries named and others repeal such laws between now and June 10, and, if not, what will be the outcome? Extreme foreign irritation and reprisals in some form may be expected now that American prohibition has been forced into foreign ships in spite of the old theory that the inside of a foreign ship is foreign territory even while within the three-mile limit or anchored in an alien port.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, inclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. What are the tiny black insects you see sometimes in the snow, called snow-fleas? They seem pretty thick around the sugar camps.

2. Is there any medicinal value in the elder berry or root of the bush people make wine of?

3. Are there any white canaries?

Answers In Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Please tell me why the catalpa trees drop water all the time.

We cannot explain this, and have been able to get little comment from botanists who say they have not observed such a happening. We find by accident, in consulting A. I. Root's The ABC and XYZ of Bee Keeping a statement, under honey dew, that "certain plants, particularly catalpa speciosa, under certain conditions, exude, it is said, a sort of saccharine substance from the leaves, but strictly speaking, this is not honey dew." It may be our correspondent has observed a catalpa thus functioning.

2. Do large bullheads eat their young?

Bullheads are catfishes, a species that characteristically protects its young, the male leading the fry about in schools and defending them until they are able to shift for themselves. However, all fishes are given to cannibalism, and if the pond did not supply sufficient food for some reason, the bigger fish might prey even upon their own kind.

3. Does the U. S. Government distribute any wild bird eggs for hatching?

Not that we know of, and it would be very unscientific to remove eggs from their natural wild bird parents. It is true that some fish and game commissions do supply to responsible persons eggs of pheasants or quail, for artificial brooding or rearing by bantam hen, as these game birds can be raised under semi-domestic conditions.

4. How do they get fibres out of plants to make them into cord or thread?

By soaking or pounding, or both. Primitive men discovered that the pulpy part of leaves or stems could be softened by water and more easily cleaned out from the fibrous element, which could then be dried and roughly combed and twisted into cords strong enough to do some work. The Indians were very skillful in utilizing leaves or stems or roots, according to the fibre-yield of the plant. Even yuccas and milkweeds have been made to give up threads.

5. Can you do anything to attract any special kind of bird to your own neighborhood?

In so far as you can offer attractions resembling a given species's natural haunts, you can hope to get the bird as neighbor. A region well planted with elms is likely to attract orioles, and strewing bits of string, etc., at nesting time is likely to popularize the location where such material abounds. Spruce, pine and cedar offer food nesting sites and also hiding places from hawks—a valuable recommendation to birds. Thickets of shrubbery and berry-bearing bushes are liked for food supply. Nesting boxes also help.

6. Will tame rabbits thrive on ensilage?

We cannot say. Clean crisp food is advisable, on general principles, but we cannot give instructions how to rear domestic stock. Lee S. Crandall's Pets and How to Care for Them is a good book for the amateur to consult.

BALL PARK IN POOR CONDITION

There is a great deal of comment among ball fans about the poor exhibitions of defensive baseball which are being put up by supposedly first class semi-pro teams.

Most of the fans assign as a reason the poor condition of the Fair Grounds ball park at the present time. There is no way of getting any water to wet the grounds down as the water connection is broken, which means when there is a dry spell that the grounds become as hard as cement which is the condition at the present time. This not only means that a ball hit by a batter is likely to take weird bounds but also that the players are likely to be injured seriously. Furthermore both the infield and outfield are full of small stones which are also detrimental to a fielder's average and his limbs. Right field is in very bad shape, which is one reason that Freddie Dahn is out of the game with a Charley horse at the present time. Center field also has numerous holes in it makes it rather hard for a center fielder as he not only has to watch the sky but also the ground.

WEDNESDAY IN THE BIG LEAGUES

Lock the door and throw the key away. The Phillies won another double header from the Braves 5 to 3 and 6 to 1.

The Hon. Babe Ruth treated himself to home runs in each of the victories scored by the Yankees over the Senators. Score 6 to 4 and 9 to 4. The young man's total for the season is now 11.

A ninth inning rally at the expense of Vangilder saved the Tigers a double defeat at the hands of the Browns, who won the morning affair 10 to 2. The rally gave the Tigers the afternoon decision 4 to 3.

After the Dodgers had continued their winning streak by taking the Giants in the first 6 to 3, the Giants came back in the afternoon, chased Dickerman off the premises and won 9 to 6. Forty-five thousand, the largest crowd that ever saw a game at the Polo Grounds, witnessed the afternoon contest.

The pennant bee, buzzing merrily in Philadelphia, broke a wing when the Athletics sloughed off a pair to the Red Sox, 6 to 5 and to 6 to 2.

The Pirates knocked off a pair from the Cubs, 5 to 4 and 10 to 2, and advanced to within 4½ games of the league leading Giants.

The White Sox won the afternoon game 7 to 2, after the Indians had come from behind with a six run rally in the seventh to capture the morning contest 7 to 6.

Rube Benton pitched the Reds to a 4 to 2 decision over the Cardinals in the morning and Rixey came in the afternoon to shut the Cardinals out.

COLONIALS, 16; PEEKSKILL A. C., 6

It started off like a ball game.

Towards the last you needed an adding machine to keep track of the Colonials' hits and runs.

It was a good game to watch, however.

The chief reason that the Colonials were able to annex so many runs after the first few innings was that the Brooklyn club was hard hit as far as pitchers were concerned. McAuliffe, who started the game for the visitors and who looked good, developed a stitch in his side while he was taking his turn at the bat in the second inning and as a result had to be taken out of the game. Sloan, who relieved him, went all right for a few innings but in the fifth the Colonials began to knock him all around the lot and as a result he was relieved in the seventh by McCormick who didn't get along very much better.

Culloton started the game for the local team but due to the fact that he had a sore arm he was relieved by Forsythe in the fourth. Let it be said that Forsythe was back in his old form Wednesday and pitched one of the nicest games, while he was in the box, that he has so far this season.

In the field the Peekskill A. C. lived up to the excellent name they made for themselves while here last year but with the Rube in the box for the locals, and with their pitchers being knocked all over the lot they didn't have much of a show to pull the game out of the fire. At the end of the fourth inning they led the local team by 5-3 but at the end of the fifth the Colonials led by a 6-5 score and from that time on there was nothing to it but just to see how many runs the Colonials could annex.

Freddie Dahn was out of the game yesterday resting up his injured leg and in the morning game Ross played right field while Schwab went over to left. Ross got two hits out of three times at bat and in the seventh inning knocked a home run over the right field fence.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MOTHER RHINOCEROS

"How well do I remember those days and nights in Africa," said Mother Rhinoceros to Mr. Rhinoceros in the zoo.

"I remember those days, too," said Mr. Rhinoceros. "Yes, sometimes when people come to look at me and when they smile because they think I am a strange-looking beast I do not mind for I am dreaming of other days.

"I love to sleep and to dream. And after a nice meal a good rest is very important.

"That is, it is nice, whether or not it is important.

"What meals we used to have of grass and leaves in those days, and how we would wander forth at night but sleep during the hot days."

"Yes," said Mother Rhinoceros, "that used to be the way we did, and sensible it was, too.

"There was no sense going out during the heat of the day when night time would be sure to come along bringing with it cooler air.

"If night time would not have meant cooler air then it would have been different. Then we might have gone out during the day.

"But how foolish it would have been for us to have done that."

"How foolish!" said Mr. Rhinoceros.

"I always had such a good way of bringing up my young," said Mother Rhinoceros.

"Ah, yes, an excellent way," said Mr. Rhinoceros. "You showed the good sense of a rhinoceros in your upbringing of your young.

"Others have not so much sense."

"I am so glad that you agree with me," said Mother Rhinoceros. "I always thought my way was best.

"Some mothers have their children follow them. In fact that is the usual way.

"And then, every little while, they have to turn around to see if their children are behind them and make sure they haven't been lost, and also make sure they're walking along fast enough.

"But my way is to have my child walk ahead. Then I can see just where my child is all the time.

"I don't have to get worried and I don't have to suddenly turn around, saying to myself:

"'Oh, dear, I do hope little Rhino is still safely behind me.'

"I don't have to say anything like that for little Rhino is still to be found straight in front of me.

"And when little Rhino wanders a little too much to the right or a little too much to the left I nudge little Rhino to make him go right.

"Then I Can See."

"Oh yes, I can keep an eye on my child that way."

"An excellent rhinoceros custom," said Mr. Rhinoceros. "Some of us have one horn and some of us have two horns. Some of us fight with our horns and others of us fight with our teeth and some of us come from Africa while others of our family come from India.

"They say that the natives of Africa are afraid of members of our family and that elephants are afraid of us too.

"It seems rather superior to think we can make such enormous animals as elephants afraid of us.

"They say that at times we are very stupid because we are near-sighted and can't see danger at all times.

"But we're not going to fight here. No, we're friendly enough here.

"And we're gentle enough, too."

"True," said Mother Rhinoceros. "Quite, quite true."

"Well," said Mr. Rhinoceros, "we've had a nice little talk, but now I think we'd better have a sleep.

"We must think of our beauty, you know."

"Beauty?" said Mother Rhinoceros.

"Yes," said Mr. Rhinoceros, "when people speak of sleeping they often say that they must get their beauty sleep. For it seems that sleep makes health and health makes beauty and so I said we must think of our rhinoceros beauty.

"Perhaps others might not think we had to think of our beauty because we had none to think about, but our rhinoceros looks suit us."

"Perfectly," said Mother Rhinoceros. "I think our thick hides are handsome and our faces are curiously beautiful, yes, curiously beautiful!"

Willie Got His.

Teacher—James, what is the matter with your eye? If you and Willie have been fighting again I shall give you each a good whipping.

James—Yes'm. But you needn't mind about Willie. He's had his.

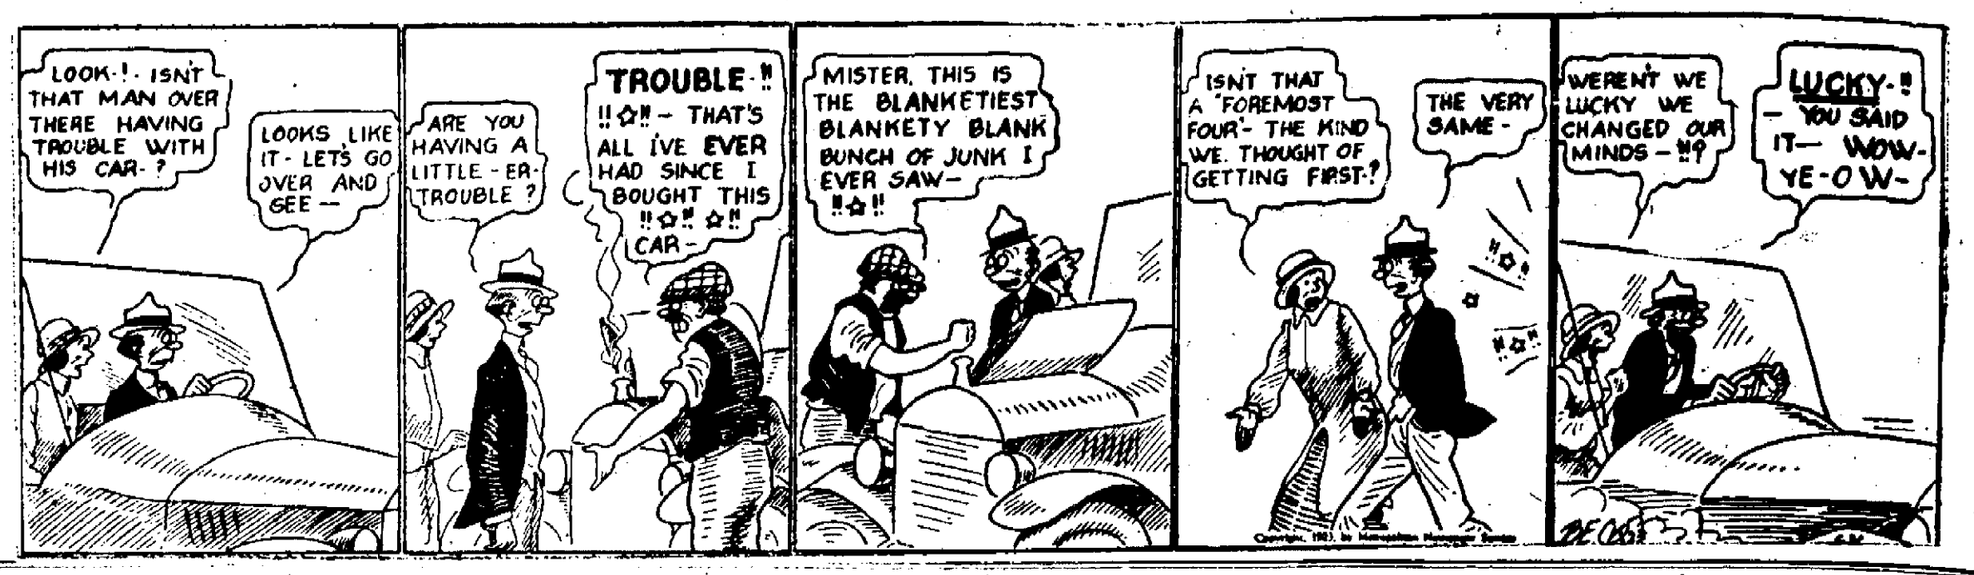
Stray Bits of Wisdom.

Grief and passion are like floods raised in little brooks by the sudden rain.—Dryden.

Food Requirements.

On an average a woman requires 1,200 pounds of food a year, or 600 less than a man requires.

GAS BUGGIES—It's an Ill Wind That Blows Nobody Good



THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

The luxury of all summer's sweet sensation is to be found when one lies at length in the warm, fragrant grass, soaked with sunshine, aware of regions of blossoming clover and of high heaven filled with the hum of innumerable bees.—Harriet E. Prescott.

WHAT TO EAT

The codfish is one of our most common and well-liked fish. Codfish balls when well made make a most nourishing luncheon or breakfast dish.

Codfish Balls. — Cut the fish into pieces or shred it with a fork, measuring two cupfuls. Cook four cupfuls of potatoes until tender, drain and shake until dry. Mash, add two beaten eggs, one tablespoonful of butter and a little white or cayenne pepper. Beat and mix well and drop by spoonfuls into deep hot fat. Drain on paper and keep hot in the oven. Serve very hot.

Baked potatoes and codfish gravy, made by making a rich white sauce and adding the shredded fish, or using a drawn butter sauce, makes a most wholesome dish. Sour cream instead of milk to use in making the white sauce is especially tasty with the codfish. Just try it.

Blankette of Veal. — Take three pounds of the best end of a breast of veal; wipe the meat with a damp cloth and cut into pieces two inches square. Add water just to cover the veal, a carrot scraped and cut into quarters, two small onions tied in a bit of cheesecloth with a teaspoonful of celery seed, two branches of parsley, two cloves and a bit of bay leaf. Cover and simmer until the veal is tender—about two hours; strain the broth, discard the vegetables and keep the veal hot. Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter, add three tablespoonfuls of flour, stir and cook until smooth, add the broth, add salt and pepper to taste and heat in the yolks of two eggs diluted with half a cupful of cream and stir into the sauce; cook without boiling, then add the juice of half a lemon and pour the sauce over the veal. Serve at once.

Sportsman Trout.—Take two fresh young trout, clean, wash and wipe dry. Salt and pepper them and place in a narrow baking pan. Fill the pan to the top of the fish and bake until a light brown. The cream will make sufficient sauce and the fish will be well-seasoned.

Nellie Maxwell

Women—and Others.

"Women who are useless as wives often make excellent housekeepers."

"A woman judges the merit of a play by the sartorial hints which it offers, a man by the number and length of the intervals."

"Never make the mistake of taking family squabbles seriously. Mutual abuse is a privilege which is much esteemed in the home."

"Between the ages of fifty and sixty a man is a devil of a fellow—after dinner. At breakfast time he is just the devil."—From "The Relations of Harlequin," by Stoni Semper.

No Lawyers Needed.

Up till quite recently the inhabitants of Juan Fernandez island, the scene of Robinson Crusoe's adventures, got along without any laws and agreed among themselves as to what was to their best interest.

Captain McCann, who recently returned from a visit to the island which Defoe made famous, describes the present-day inhabitants of Cumberland bay, where Robinson Crusoe and his man Friday spent four years. What was once a dreary, desolate spot has been transformed into a thriving community, says Captain McCann in the Mentor.

Question of Meals.

"You are not in politics for your health, I presume?"

"In a way I am," replied the chronic office seeker. "Experts say if a person doesn't eat regularly his health is apt to be poor."

Something Else.

"It seems there were two Irishmen—"

"I don't want to hear about poor old Pat and Mike."

"This is a magazine anecdote about Terence and Sheumas."

Power of Suggestion.

Handy—Does your wife believe in auto-suggestion?

Andy—Yes, every morning she puts a sponge on the breakfast table so I won't forget to wash the car.

Breakfast Time is Coffee Time!

What would breakfast be without coffee; or, in fact, what would most any other meal be?

For coffee is the liquid comfort that satisfies appetite in a way that nothing else can.

And there is a psychological reason for this: it appeals just as much to the sense of smell as to taste; as no other food product does.

Reliance Coffee is a blend of the choicest coffee berries; roasted according to the old Reynolds formula, to bring out to the point of perfection both aroma and taste.

You are certain to please every member of the family with the coffee you serve when you use Reliance.

Your grocer, most likely, sells it. Ask him to deliver a pound. Wm. T. Reynolds & Co. Inc. Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The Rev. Mr. Greenwell, pastor of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, gave a patriotic address. He e of the cost at which the Am- an ideals and privileges were . The soldiers of Washington, made America, the soldiers of t, who saved the union, the sol- of Pershing, who showed the d that this country actually stands for what it boasts, all have paid and paid well in suffering and life to grant and secure to the people of this country those ideals of liberty and justice which we hold so dear. For this season, when the winds and storms of time have worn away the last statue or monument erected to these men, there will still be Memorial Day, one day in the year when the American people will stop in their work to honor those who made possible what they enjoy. But there is something more than remembering what was done by the men of former years. A noted commander recently stated that the cause for which the men in the late war so valiantly fought is lost, forgotten. They fought for world peace, they fought for world justice. Today the same old turmoil is stirring the world with its dizzy pace. The cause is lost, men are again back at the sword. Here is a fight that requires men, a fight to which all might well dedicate their lives—the spreading of the feeling of good will, the establishment of a world-wide brotherhood. The men whom we honor on Memorial Day fought for this in their day. The sword passes to the younger generation to carry on the fight. To those who fought all respect and honor should be given, for they advanced our right to a place nearer the desired goal. They gave us the America which we now hold dear to us and which it is now our privilege and duty to defend.

The exercises were closed with the singing of "America" by all.

FARMERS ASK PROTECTION FROM THEFT BY MOTORISTS

Legislative measures to prevent fruit and vegetable thefts from farms by automobile parties were asked by representatives of county farm bureau associations in attendance at district meetings recently held by the state farms bureau federation. The loss to farmers through this petty thievery was said to be increasing and some protection for their property from motorists was demanded. According to Secretary E. V. Underwood, the federation will make careful investigation of the charges made and take steps to control this unfair practice.

One of the largest adult camps in this section is rapidly nearing completion and is now about ready for occupancy. It is Camp Esopus located on the river road about two miles south of the village of Port Ewen on the high bluff overlooking the Hudson river. The camp will accommodate 250 people and will have every kind of outdoor sports. Camp Esopus is located on the former Knickerbocker Ice Company property and includes a farm of 135 acres. A dance and dining hall 150 feet by 40 feet and designed to take care of 250 people has been built, the construction work having been done by Schryver Brothers of this city.

Camp Esopus is owned and operated by Verschleiser Brothers, owners and operators of the Central Opera House in New York city and A. Schlussler who formerly conducted a hotel at Fleischmanns.

In addition to the water frontage on the river the property also runs down to the Twin Lakes and adjoins the upper Esopus lake. This water frontage will be developed and made use of.

Special attention has been paid to saddle horses for guests. This sport will be one of the features of the camp and Capt. John Roosa of this city, formerly of the mounted police force in New York city, has been engaged to take care of this important detail. A golf course will also be provided as well as all kinds of camp sports.

The buildings located on the property may be seen from the state road at a point near the old Van Aken farms south of Port Ewen village. The camp is lighted with electric lights and the management expects to spend in the neighborhood of $100,000 for the property and the improvements thereon.

To Buy, or Not to Buy—

That is the Question.

IN order to dress well one must have a keen appreciation of style.

To know what color one can wear. When to be bouffant. Or, when to be slim. How to look taller, or shorter. Where to wear the drape—on the side or at the front. How to look smart on a limited income. And most important of all, what not to buy.

Our specialization in style, and nothing but style, saves you time, money and embarrassing mistakes. It helps you to achieve charm without achieving bankruptcy. It tells you whether to buy or not to buy—the ever present, perplexing question.

Thought for the Day.

The man who doesn't do any more than he is compelled to do is seldom paid any more than his boss is compelled to pay.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Child's Hair With

If you want to keep children's hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless,) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last for months. Be sure and ask for "Mulsified."—Advertisement.

TAGGING THE SEMI-PRO. BASES

At Watervliet—With "Crackey" Holden in rare form the Grogans defeated the D. & H. Generals at Watervliet on Memorial Day by a 4-1 score. Holden was signed by the Grogans after their defeat at the hands of the Generals last Sunday. Holden struck out six men and allowed only six scattered hits. The Generals made seven errors behind Dollard who was in the box for the Watervliet team. One thousand fans saw the game.

At Amsterdam—The Amsterdam K. of C. baseball team defeated the Mohawk Athletics of Utica at Amsterdam Wednesday by a 4-3 score. Two passes coupled with singles by Bush and Brucker scored the winning run for the Kaysees in the seventh.

At Port Chester—The Doherty Silk Sox of Paterson scored an 8-4 win over the Rus., Burd & Ward team of this place on the local diamond on Memorial Day. The Paterson team scored five runs in the first inning and were never headed. The local team was held scoreless until the sixth inning when they put two runs over the rubber. Raymond and Dede were the batteries for the Paterson team.

At Poughkeepsie—As usual the baseball game between the two teams representing Poughkeepsie broke up in a row. The argument occurred in the eighth inning. Start was walked and tried to steal second. The catcher's throw to get him went to center field and the throw from center field to get him as he went to third went into the stands and as a result Start continued on home which the umpires ruled he was entitled to do. The Red Sox however maintained that third was as far as he could go. After considerable talk the game was forfeited to the Schatz. Then both teams decided to play but the umpires refused to officiate and so two men were obtained from the crowd. McDermott had grown cold by the long wait and as a result the final score was 12 to 4 in favor of the Schatz team.

At Rhinebeck—Staging a ninth inning rally which netted them three runs the Astors nosed out the Red Hook team on Wednesday winning the game by a 7-6 score. Jimmy Buckley had five players from Dean Academy in his line up and they added greatly to the efficiency of the team. Tremper, one of the new players, drove in the winning run in the ninth and he was carried off of the field on the shoulders of the fans. Ford and Tierney were the battery for the Astors and Ellis and Simmons for the Red Hook team.

Aidala Gives Bail.

Antonio Aidala of this city was taken before District Attorney Traver on Tuesday by his attorney, Frank W. Brooks, and gave bail to appear before county court to answer to an indictment handed in by the last grand jury, charging Aidala with assault in the second degree. Joseph Agatta is the complaining witness for the People.

KINGSTON HORSE AND ASTORS WON

There was a large representation of Kingston lovers of horse racing at Springbrook Park, Rhinebeck, Wednesday, and they were repaid for their going as the races were interesting, as was the baseball game between the Astors and the Red Hook team. The Astors won, the score being 7 to 6, the Astors scoring three runs in the last inning. Percy Brink drove his fast trotter an exhibition mile in 2:17¼, and Dr. B. W. Maben's new track horse, "Belle Todd," won her race. Other Kingston horses that were in the races and got a piece of the purses were "Carcita," owned by Harry Walker; Willis S. Eckert's "Gym Kohl;" William D. Brinnier's "A. S. A.;" and Elmer Palen's "Buffalo Boy," "King Bob," owned by Mrs. B. W. Maben. Wendell Booth of Poughkeepsie was the starter, Wally Foster, Frank Howell and Frank Cookingham, judges; Alfred Sheroy and Harry G. Cotting, the timers.

JOHNNY DUNDEE LOSES HIS TITLE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 31.—Although two newspaper critics openly declared that Johnny Dundee was made the victim of a bad decision at the Velodrome last night, the majority of expert opinion leaned to the belief that Jack Bernstein honestly earned the victory that carried with it the junior lightweight championship. Bernstein suffered a knock down in the third round by a left to the jaw, but arose at the count of nine to carry on the fight with the veteran to the final rounds.

He was given credit for winning five of the rounds with four going to Dundee and the rest being even.

The new champion has jumped from obscurity to fame within a year He is twenty-three years old and was born in New York. His real name is John Dedick.

DESPITE HOMERS, COLONIALS WIN

Afternoon Game on Wednesday From Peekskill A. C. at Fair Grounds by 8-4 Score—Fogarty, Soon to Be With Locals, Hits Three Homers—Ross Pitches Good Game—Robins Gets Four Hits Out of Five Times Up.

The Colonials have a habit this year of dropping games to clubs they trimmed last season and winning games from clubs that trimmed them which was evidenced Wednesday afternoon when they made it two straight from the fast Peekskill A. C. The afternoon game was won by a score of 8-4. Ross was on the mound for the locals and pitched a very commendable game for the local team. At no time was he in what could be called a hole.

If it hadn't been for a certain gentleman by the name of Fogarty the Peekskill club's end of the score wouldn't have looked nearly as respectable. Fogarty, who will be with the Colonials after June 15, cracked out no less than three home runs for his team, two of them going over the right field fence and the other one being lost in right field. Ross and Robins used everything they could on this gentleman but it all went to no avail as he continued to knock them over no matter what.

Hagerman, who defeated the Colonials twice last year, started on the mound for the visitors but was taken out with two men down in the sixth and relieved Macken who up to that time had been playing right field.

Jack Robins, the captain of the local team, had a very pleasant day at bat getting four hits out of five times at bat which is far from a bad day's work.

Billy Schwab also distinguished himself Wednesday afternoon when he got two hits and made the most sensational catch of the whole game in the fourth inning. Smith knocked the ball into deep left for what seemed a sure hit but Billy was right there and Mr. Smith had to be content with a time at bat and no hit.

As usual the visiting team put over the first run. This run was made in the second inning. The Colonials made two in their half of the second and were never headed after that. They made one more in the fourth, two in the sixth, two in the seventh and one in the eighth. Thanks to Mr. Fogarty's home runs the Brooklyn team made one run in the seventh and two in the ninth.

In the afternoon game the Colonials looked as though they had forgotten anywhere from seven to ten errors during the game and really put up the best brand of defensive baseball that they have in some time.

We came very near forgetting to mention that sensational catch which Cragin, who played right field in the afternoon, made in the second inning. It came from a stick wielded by a man by the name of McGown and the catch was almost as sensational as Schwab's.

Fifteen hundred enthusiastic fans watched the contest and as usual commented favorably or unfavorably, as the case might be, on the decisions of Umpires Jordan and Vincent.

Best exhibition in some time.
